

Is you must dig with Mattocke, and with Spade,
And pierce the inmost Center of the earth:
Then when you come to Platoes Region,
I pray you deliver him this petition,
Tell him it is for iustice, and for aide,
And that it comes from old Andronicus,
Shaken with sorrowes in vngratefull Rome.
Ah Rome! Well, well, I made thee miserable,
What time I threw the peoples suffrages
On him that thus doth tyrannize ore me.
Goe get you gone, and pray be carefull all,
And leave you not a man of warre vnsearcht,
This wicked Emperour may haue shipht her hence,
And kinsmen then we may goe pipe for iustice.

Marc. O Publius is not this a heauie case
To see thy Noble Vnckle thus distract?
Publ. Therefore my Lords it highly vs concerns,
By day and night attend him carefully:
And feede his humour kindly as we may,
Till time beget some carefull remedie.

Marc. Kinsmen, his sorrowes are past remedie.
Ioyn with the Gothes, and with reuengefull warre,
Take wreake on Rome for this ingratitude,
And vengeance on the Traytor Saturnine.

Tit. Publius how now? how now my Maisters?
What haue you met with her?

Publ. No my good Lord, but Pluto sends you word,
If you will haue reuenge from hell you shall,
Marrie for iustice she is so imploy'd,
He thinkes with Ioue in heauen, or some where else:
So that perforce you must needs stay a time.

Tit. He doth me wrong to feed me with delayes,
He diue into the burning Lake below,
And pull her out of Aeareon by the heeles:
Marcus we are but shrubs, no Cedars we,
No big-bon'd-men, fram'd of the Cyclops size,
But mettall Marcus, Steele to the very backe,
Yet wrong with wrongs more then our backe can beare:
And fith there's no iustice in earth nor hell,
We will sollicite heauen, and moue the Gods:
To send downe iustice for to wreake our wrongs:
Come to this geare, you are a good Archer Marcus.

He giues them the Arrowes.

Ad Iouem, that's for you: here ad Appollonem,
Ad Martem, that's for my selfe,
Heere Boy to Pallas, heere to Mercury,
To Saturnine, to Caius, not to Saturnine,
You were as good to shoote against the winde,
Too it Boy, Marcus loose when I bid:
Of my word, I haue written to effect,
There's not a God left vnfollicited.

Marc. Kinsmen, shoot all your shafts into the Court,
We will afflict the Emperour in his pride.

Tit. Now Maisters draw, Oh well said Lucius:
Good Boy in Virgoes lap, giue it Pallas.

Marc. My Lord, I aime a Mile beyond the Moone;
Your letter is with Iupiter by this.

Tit. Ha, ha, Publius, Publius, what hast thou done?
See, see, thou hast shot off one of Taurus hornes.

Marc. This was the sport my Lord, when Publius shot,
The Bull being gal'd, gaue Aries such a knocke,
That downe fell both the Rams hornes in the Court,
And who should finde them but the Emperesse villaine:
She laught, and told the Moore he should not choose
But giue them to his Maister for a present.

Tit. Why there it goes, God giue your Lordship ioy.

Enter the Clowne with a basket and two Pigeons in it.
Titus. Newes, newes, from heauen,
Marcus the poast is come.

Sirrah, what tydings? haue you any letters?
Shall I haue iustice, what sayes Iupiter?

Clowne. Ho the libbetmaker, he sayes that he hath taken them downe againe, for the man must not be hang'd till the next weeke.

Tit. But what sayes Iupiter I aske thee?

Clowne. Alas sir I know not Iupiter:

I neuer dranke with him in all my life.

Tit. Why villaine art not thou the Carrier?

Clowne. I of my Pigeons sir, nothing else.

Tit. Why, didst thou not come from heauen?

Clowne. From heauen? Alas sir, I neuer came there, God forbid I should be so bold, to presse to heauen in my young dayes. Why I am going with my pigeons to the Tribunall Plebs, to take vp a matter of brawle, betwixt my Vnckle, and one of the Emperialls men.

Marc. Why sir, that is as fit as can be to serue for your Oration, and let him deliuer the Pigeons to the Emperour from you.

Tit. Tell mee, can you deliuer an Oration to the Em-perour with a Grace?

Clowne. Nay truly sir, I could neuer say grace in all my life.

Tit. Sirrah come hither, make no more adoe,
But giue your Pigeons to the Emperour,
By me thou shalt haue iustice at his hands.
Hold, hold, meane while her's money for thy charges,
Giue me pen and inke.

Sirrah, can you with a Grace deliuer a Supplication?

Clowne. I sir

Titus. Then here is a Supplication for you, and when you come to him, at the first approach you must kneele, then kisse his foote, then deliuer vp your Pigeons, and then looke for your reward. He be at hand sir, see you do it brauely.

Clowne. I warrant you sir, let me alone.

Tit. Sirrah hast thou a knife? Come let me see it,
Heere Marcus, fold it in the Oration,
For thou hast made it like an humble Suppliant:
And when thou hast giuen it the Emperour,
Knocke at my dore, and tell me what he sayes.

Clowne. God be with you sir, I will.

Tit. Come Marcus let vs goe, Publius follow me.

Exit.

Exeunt.

Enter Emperour and Emperesse, and her two Sonnes, the Emperour brings the Arrowes in his hand that Titus shot at him.

Satur. Why Lords,
What wrongs are these? was euer seene
An Emperour in Rome thus ouerborne,
Troubled, Confronted thus, and for the extent
Of eg all iustice, v'd in such contempt?
My Lords, you know the mightfull Gods,
(How euer these disturbers of our peace
Buz in the peoples eares) there nought hath past,
But euen with law against the willfull Sonnes
Of old Andronicus. And what and if
His sorrowes haue so ouerwhelm'd his wits,
Shall we be thus afflicted in his wreakes,
His fits, his frenzie, and his bitternesse?
And now he writes to heauen for his redresse.
See, heeres to Ioue, and this to Mercury,

This

This to Apollo, this to the God of warre:

Sweet crowles to flie about the streets of Rome:

What's this but Libelling against the Senate,

And blazoning out Injustice euery where?

A goodly humour, is it not my Lords?

As who would say, in Rome no Iustice were.

But if I liue, his fained extasies

Shall be no shelter to these outrages:

But he and his shall know, that Iustice liues

In Saturninus health; whom if he sleepe,

Hee'l so awake, as he in fury shall

Cut off the proud, if Conspirator that liues.

Tam. My gracious Lord, my louely Saturnine,

Lord of my life, Commander of my thoughts,

Calme thee, and beare the faults of Titus age,

Th' effects of sorrow for his valiant Sonnes,

Whose losse hath pierc'd him deepe, and fear'd his heart;

And rather comfort his distressed plight,

Then prosecute the meanest or the best

For these contempts. Why thus it shall become

High witted Tamora to glose with all:

But Titus, I haue touch'd thee to the quicke,

Thy life blood out: If Aaron now be wife,

Then is all safe, the Anchor's in the Port.

Enter Clowne.

How now good fellow, wouldst thou speake with vs?

Clowne. Yea forsooth, and your Misterhip be Emperiall.

Tam. Emperesse I am, but yonder sits the Emperour.

Clowne. 'Tis he; God & Saint Stephen giue you good den;

I haue brought you a Letter, & a couple of Pigeons heere.

He reads the Letter.

Satur. Goe take him away, and hang him presently.

Clowne. How much money must I haue?

Tam. Come sirrah you must be hang'd.

Clowne. Hang'd? be Lady, then I haue brought vp a neck to a faire end.

Exit.

Satur. Despightfull and intollerable wrongs,

Shall I endure this monstrous villany?

I know from whence this fame deuise proceedes:

May this be borne? As if his traytrous Sonnes,

That dy'd by law for murder of our Brother,

Haue by my meanes bene butcher'd wrongfully?

Goe dragge the villaine hither by the haire,

Nor Age, nor Honour, shall shape priuiledge:

For this proud mocke, he be thy slaughter man:

Sly franticke wretch, that holp't to make me great,

In hope thy selfe should gouerne Rome and me.

Enter Nuntius Emilius.

Satur. What newes with thee Emilius?

Emil. Arme my Lords, Rome neuer had more cause,

The Gothes haue gather'd head, and with a power

Of high resolu'd men, bent to the spoyle

They hither march amaine, vnder conduct

Of Lucius, Sonne to old Andronicus:

Who threats in course of this reuenge to do

As much as euer Coriolanus did.

King. Is warlike Lucius Generall of the Gothes?

These tydings nip me, and I hang the head

As flowers with frost, or grasse beat downe with stormes:

I now begins our sorrowes to approach,

'Tis the common people loue so much,

My selfe hath often heard them say,

(When I haue walk'd like a priuate man)

That Lucius banishment was wrongfully,

And they haue wisht that Lucius were their Emperour.
